Greetings from the Ferry Beach Board President

September 6 was a beautiful late summer day when Ferry Beach community members gathered for our Annual Meeting. With my election as your Board president, I felt a surge of energy and empowerment from you, the Ferry Beach community. A transition was marked, Board installation celebrated, and this I already know: "If we agree in LOVE, there is no disagreement that can do us any injury." What a wonderful heritage we celebrate from our Universalist forbears Quillen Shinn and Hosea Ballou and from recent years of visionary Board leadership!

We bid a fond farewell to outgoing president, Wendy von Zirpolo, and Board members Ruth Gitchell Shepard and Charles Boothby. We have been blessed by their wisdom and effective leadership. We welcomed new Vice President, Mark Koenig, and new Board members Cyd Melcher and Paul Riechmann. Continuing Board members working around the year to fulfill the mission of FBPA are: Steve Onacki, Secretary; Paul Provencher, Treasurer; Gary Adams; Brad Cohen; Rick DeWolfe; Joy McNaughton. We are fortunate to have such a committed dynamic Board. From Craig Lentz and the whole Ferry Beach staff we have all received the gifts of their outstanding dedication and service.

At the Annual Meeting, I pledged to lead to the best of my abilities and to be in right relationship with each of you by:

- Finding the sacred in, among and between each of us,
- Listening to understand and suspend judgment,
- Respecting the contributions and circumstances of each other,
- Trusting each other's good intentions and commitment to our work,
- Affirming different ways of relating, ways of learning and ways of working,
- Grounding our relationship and work in the principles and practices of Unitarian Universalism,
- Striving to implement the vision, goals, and strategies of FBPA.

Knowing that we are ALL trustees of this community and home we call FERRY BEACH, I invite you to reflect on these promises. I am hoping we can make it a mutual pledge of the ways we will engage with each other in the coming year.

To fulfill this pledge and build our relationships we need to be in conversation, friends! My email is phoertdoerfer@metrocast.net and I want to hear from YOU. What are your dreams for Ferry Beach? Your concerns? How do you want to share your talents and time with the Ferry Beach community? Where do your gifts meet the needs of our Ferry Beach home?

We are in this together, friends, because WE are Ferry Beach! For the sake of Ferry Beach, let me hear from YOU!

With appreciation and faith,

Pat Hoerl

Executive Director's Message

By the time you read this, our fall season will be complete and our full focus will have turned towards planning for 2010 and beyond. We are truly entering exciting times at Ferry Beach and it is with joy that I offer a taste of the great things looming on the horizon.

On November 7, 2009, the Board of Director's voted unanimously NOT to raise conference prices for the 2010 Summer Season! In some cases, we will actually reduce prices, such as tenting in the Grove. We recognize the impact that the economy has had on our members and friends, and we want to do everything we can to keep Ferry Beach as affordable as possible. Our costs continue to rise and it is vital that we bring even more people to Ferry Beach this summer than ever before. I am asking each of you to seek out the people in your congregations and communities that will benefit from our beloved community and invite them to come with you this year. It is that personal invitation, and your own story about your love of Ferry Beach, that will inspire them to join you.

Dave Ruitenbergh, our new maintenance director, began building new beds this fall for Rowland Hall – 64 in all! No longer will you spend the week massaging your bruised forehead! When the site shuts down near the end of November, work will begin on the second floor of Rowland to remove the existing bunk beds and prepare the bedrooms for a complete overhaul. When you arrive next season, the walls will have been insulated and the entire room dry walled and painted. The electricity will have been upgraded, the floors redone and new beds installed. It will be a complete transformation in appearance and comfort.

Once this project is complete, the 4 yellow cabins located in the middle of the campus will be moved to prepare for the new dining facility. Three of the cabins will be moved behind the Kelley Cottage and Rowland Hall, creating the Metz Family Staff Village. Each cabin will be placed on a full basement foundation that will provide much needed storage. The fourth cabin will be moved to the northern edge of the volleyball court and converted into the new nurse's cabin. That too will be built on a full foundation. This project will be completed by June, just in time for the summer season.

When you arrive this summer, the center of campus will be wide open! It is there that the DeWolfe Dining Facility will be constructed. The current plan is to break ground the day after Labor Day, 2010, and be ready for service in the spring of 2011. The first stage of the permitting process is complete – the Department of Environmental Protection approved our site plan and the next stage is to submit plans to the City of Saco, which will happen before Thanksgiving. Our hope is to have all permits in place by the beginning of 2010.

All of these things, and so many more, are a direct result of your continued love and generosity, and we are eternally grateful. May it always be so.

Craig Lentz,
Executive Director

the Landscape” of the natural and built environments. We also wanted the FBES teaching method to use humorous skits, costumes and songs to make our lessons fun and memorable. “It’s tremendous when kids can laugh together and then think together,” Brad said. “The FBES theatrics became like the dessert on top of a good meal!” By September 1999, we began offering school year residential programs during the fall term (up to 11 weeks) and spring term (up to 14 weeks). That first FBES staff consisted of 12 naturalists including Kim Schutsky, Sashi Kaufman and nurse Ann Nozowa.

The Perfect Site

We all know Ferry Beach is a wonderful setting for the summer FBPA conferences, but the campus is also unique as an educational site as it offers eight ecosystems within walking distance of the dorms and accommodates large groups of up to 180 students. The beach location is a big bonus for those public and private schools which come from inland communities. It’s a delight every week to see elementary and middle school-aged children get their first taste of salt air and witness a full cycle of the ocean tides.

Being a year-round presence at Ferry Beach, the Ecology School has not only provided dependable rental revenue to FBPA, but also teamed up with the Park Association on site improvement projects such as winterizing the staff cabins, adding heat to the dorms and building the Kelley Cottage green building in 2004. The Knights Geology Wall and the organic garden are other educational projects onsite. FBES is also proud to be a $25,000 supporter of the 2nd Century Fund Capital Campaign.

In addition to the terrific campus, many Park Association members have been an integral part of FBES’s success. In fact, nearly all of the early founders of the Ecology School were longtime Ferry Beach Park Association members and many comprised our first board of directors. People such as Brad Bradway, Bill and Louisa Graver, David and Elizabeth Young, John Paynter, David Parees, Bob and Sue Williams, Nelson Jaquay, Bob Murphy, Tim Sullivan, Nan Schildroth, Joan Watts and Vicki Adams were the ones who helped map out and/or financially back the initial Ecology School startup.

The Next 10 Years

Since the beginning, FBES has focused on being an innovative and nimble nonprofit organization, able to adapt and grow with changes in educational standards and the Happy Birthday Ecology School! This year Ferry Beach Ecology School (FBES) celebrates 10 years of programs at Ferry Beach. Back in January of 1999, FBES set up shop on the back porch of 5 Morris Avenue with a strong vision for educational change and help from many friends in the Ferry Beach Park Association community. 70,000 students later, FBES is blessed to be based year-round at the Ferry Beach campus, renting the site offseason as a place where students come from all over New England to live on the coast of Maine for a week of science education and ecosystem exploration.

“It was always meant to be more than just a walk in the woods,” Brad Bradway said to me at the FBES 10th Anniversary Banquet Dinner at the Quillen Dining Hall back in April. Brad, the former executive director of Ferry Beach Park Association and FBES’s first (volunteer) managing director, pointed out that, “Our goal from the outset was to provide environmental education on a more meaningful level than what other programs were offering.”

How It All Started

I had been working as the summer ecologist for Ferry Beach Park Association off and on since 1991, when I had moved from Michigan to start up the FBPA summer ecology program and then the Kids for the Earth camp back in 1993. In the Fall of 1998, when Brad (with the go ahead from the FBPA board) offered me and my friend and colleague, Steve Signell, the possibility to start a new 501(c)(3) nonprofit educational organization, we jumped at the chance! Brad had secured a combination of six $10,000 loans from several Park Association members (paid off in whole by 2003) and Steve and I spent the first nine months of 1999 designing curriculum, hiring staff and meeting with potential client schools. Our goal was to combine the science of ecology with the practice of sustainability to provide students with the skills to “Read environmental field. We've increased our fundraising yearly, added full-time staff positions and are now expanding our program offerings to new audiences beyond our residential programs at Ferry Beach. Our Food For Thought program is teaching about the ecology of food systems in the Quillen dining hall, organic garden behind Rowland Hall, and back at our client schools. Our Science & Ecology: Live & Unplugged! Outreach Programs take us to schools and conferences throughout New England. Our publications—including The Ferry Beach Field Guide and The ABCs of Ecology—are used around the country and inspire educators to take children outside for hands-on learning.

This past summer Ferry Beach Ecology School signed a ten year rental lease to continue its strong business partnership with Ferry Beach Park Association. And this upcoming FBPA summer season the Ecology School looks forward to offering the FBPA conference Exploring the Maine Coast: A Family Nature Camp during the last week of July. As FBES looks to the future, with Ferry Beach as its home base, it will continue to provide and expand its environmental education work with children and adults, helping them to create healthy and sustainable relationships with the Earth.

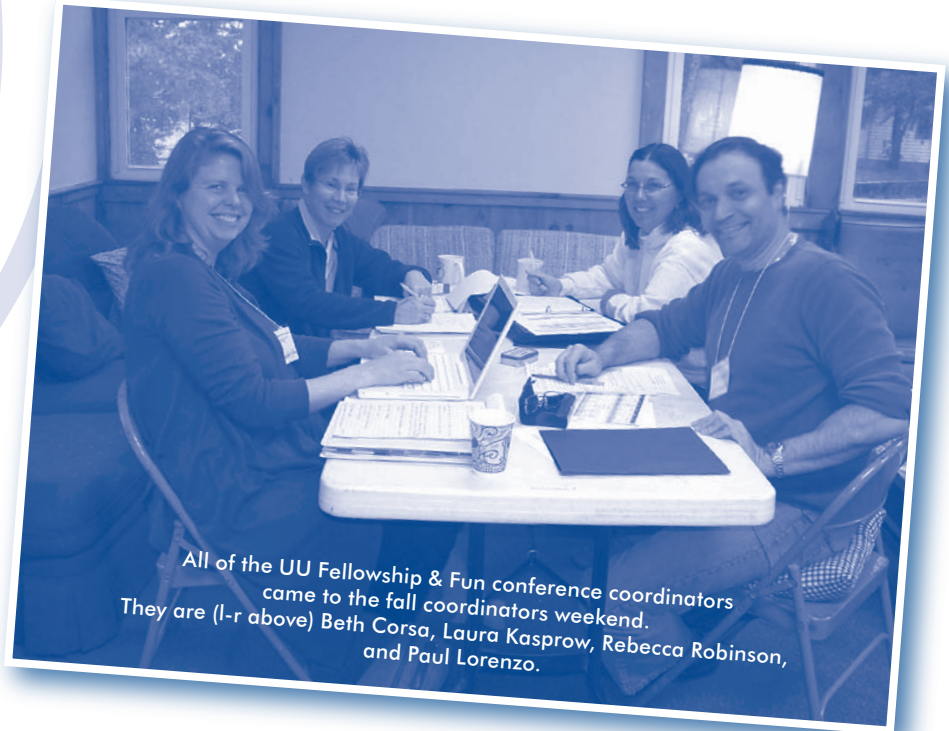

Our thanks to everyone who has helped Ferry Beach Ecology School reach this ten-year milestone!

For years the Ferry Beach conference coordinators have planned their conferences in the fall. The printing schedule for the conference booklet dictates our planning schedule. However, Coordinators Weekend has always been in the spring. This year someone (we're not sure who, maybe Craig) had a brainstorm. Ferry Beach could actually host a coordinators weekend in the fall when most of the planning needs to be done! It was such a no-brainer that we wondered why we hadn't thought of it sooner. We would still have the traditional spring Coordinators Weekend for fine tuning the conferences and to kick off the 2010 season.

The church retreat groups during the first weekend in October were not using Rowland. We got the word out quickly and a small group of coordinators were able to come. Conference coordinators telephoned and e-mailed potential workshop leaders and other participants, planned their entire conferences, and drafted their conference booklet write-ups. This is what we hoped would happen! Although the group was small, we declared the first fall Coordinators Weekend a success. We'll plan for it well ahead of time next year.

Capital Campaign Moves Forward

The 2nd Century Fund Capital Campaign finished its second year on a high note. Ferry Beachers have pledged $1,151,293 – just $49,000 shy of our $1.2 million goal. 487 individuals and families have contributed – more than twice the number originally predicted. This is a truly extraordinary outpouring of participation and support. Thank you to all who have stepped forward! Others who have waited to take part now have the opportunity to help in closing this ambitious campaign.

Our community generated unprecedented support for the Campaign's compelling vision for our spiritual home – to preserve, protect and improve Ferry Beach. Together, we are realizing our vision through the generous participation of those who love our special place by the sea. It is expressed not only through monetary pledges, but through passionate volunteerism, insightful suggestions and the shared values that bind our Ferry Beach family. Just as the capital projects funded by the Campaign will transform our campus, we are transforming ourselves as a unique and committed community. We are investing in a future shared with others yet to come, who will visit Ferry Beach and discover the magic we already know and appreciate.

At the 2009 Annual Meeting, Ferry Beach honored departing members of the Campaign's Core Leadership Team including Gail Forsyth-Vail, Partnerships Chair; Carol Hayden, Events Chair; Abby Mann, Youth Gifts Chair; and Pat Hoerdoerfer, Campaign Co-chair. All will continue to share their talents through other Ferry Beach volunteer projects. The Campaign also welcomed Follow-up Co-chairs Dorothy Ellis and Ann Nozawa.

It is now time to fulfill our pledges, not only to the 2nd Century Fund but to future generations of Ferry Beachers who will benefit from our legacy. Campaign supporters seeking outstanding details of their individual pledges may contact the Ferry Beach office at 207-282-4489 or fbregs@maine.rr.com. Each payment is received with gratitude, and acknowledged with a receipt for tax purposes. Like Ferry Beach, this Campaign is one we can all "call our own."

Ferry Beach's New Maintenance Director - Dave Ruitenber

When Ferry Beach Maintenance Director Claude Nadeau announced his retirement, some Ferry Beachers wondered if we could ever find a "jack of all trades" like Claude. The Maintenance Director position was advertised and many capable candidates came for interviews. But, it wasn't until Dave Ruitenber came for his interview at 5 Morris that Executive Director Craig Lentz knew he had found our new Maintenance Director.

Dave heard about the position from his Kennebunk neighbor Marty Burgess, long time coordinator of the FogDog Pod Kayaking conference at Ferry Beach. Marty knew that Dave has just the right kind of eclectic background to be the Ferry Beach Maintenance Director. Dave too said, "The job sounded great and looked like a good fit."

A native of Midland Park, New Jersey, Dave is the son of restaurateurs and started working in the family business when he was ten. He is a graduate of the Culinary Institute of America in Hyde Park, New York and a Certified Executive Chef with the American Culinary Federation. While he was in high school and later studying at the Culinary Institute, Dave worked for construction companies. It was this experience that provided Dave with his knowledge of construction trades.

In the year 2000, after more than a decade of working demanding restaurant hours, Dave wanted to spend more time with his family. He established his own construction business and, until he was hired by Ferry Beach, made his living framing houses, building additions, and constructing indoor renovations.

Dave and his wife Dawn were married very young and have surprised all who thought they should wait to get married by celebrating their 22nd anniversary on November 7th. Dave and Dawn have two daughters, Hayley, 18, a freshman at St. Anselm's

College, and Abigail, 15, a sophomore at Kennebunk High School. Dawn is a medical assistant at the University of New England at Westbrook.

Since his arrival at Ferry Beach in May, Dave has been a whirlwind of activity. In addition to all of the everyday Ferry Beach maintenance and with some help from volunteers and staff, Dave rebuilt the stone walkway in front of Quillen; built a new fence, round table and podium for the dedication plaque in the Chapel; sanded and applied four coats of polyurethane to the floor in Rowland Hall; tiled one bathroom on the third floor of Quillen; replaced the roof on the Grove garage; built new stairs in back of the dining room; and is presently building 64 new beds for Rowland.

Dave is also serving as the general contractor for the Rowland Renovation and Metz Family Staff Village, both part of the 2nd Century Fund Capital Campaign construction project. He has contacted contractors, provided specs, and assembled bids for sheet-rocking, electrical work, carpeting, and foundations for the cabins when they are moved behind Rowland. (See related articles for an update of the construction projects.)

Dave says his hobbies are riding his motorcycle and building furniture. However, he said that once he finishes the 64th bed for Rowland, he probably won't want to build another bed for a while! Looking ahead to summer programming, Dave said that he would love to provide some carpentry workshops for adults and for children. Dave is definitely "a good fit!"

See some of Dave's projects on the next page!

Now, more than ever...

This is one of the most exciting times in Ferry Beach history. We have surpassed our minimum goal of $950,000 for the 2nd Century Fund Capital Campaign and are finalizing the planning and permitting for the building projects. Over 487 people have given to the campaign and we are humbled by the generosity of Ferry Beachers. One of the challenges during a capital campaign is keeping annual giving stable, especially during tough economic times. Now, more than ever, your continued support is needed to keep prices as affordable as possible and to insure the quality of programming and experience you have come to expect.

As we begin our fifth annual giving campaign, it is with confidence in our growth and future that we ask you to thoughtfully consider your annual pledge. By making a generous pledge, you are making a statement that Ferry Beach is important to you. You are helping Ferry Beach to fully realize its mission to Unitarian Universalists and other spiritual seekers to live our values more deeply within their hearts, home, and in the world. Achieving that vision requires three things: (1) your continued participation in Ferry Beach programs and volunteer efforts; (2) your gift of financial support; and (3) your voice in spreading our good news! It begins with you. Now is the time for each of you to step forward and continue your stewardship of our beloved Ferry Beach.

Please mail your annual gift or pledge back to us by December 31 to help us budget for 2010. Thank you for your continued support in sustaining Ferry Beach, a place that changes people's lives.

“...and a time to dance” a Summer Reflection

Looking back at our weeks together at Ferry Beach last summer, I see more threads that tie us together as a community than I can count – singing our songs, workshops, the beach, the Grove, porch chats, ice cream.... The “thread” that returns again and again to my memory is how much we danced last summer. We UUs may have a reputation for being inhibited and rhythmically challenged but, my oh my, we certainly did dance last summer at Ferry Beach.

Picture in your mind’s eye more than 100 campers – from fourth graders to seniors in high school – all on the dance floor in Rowland Hall line dancing to “Cotton Eyed Joe.” A couple of years ago before our first all-camp dance, we worried that a dance with all age groups might not play out well. We needn’t have worried. With the help of DJ Keith Sherman, who has come to Ferry Beach since he was a little boy, the all-camp dance is a hit!

Next, I see (and hear) Anne Principe teaching and “calling” the folk dances during RE Week. Dancers love Anne’s wisecracking, no nonsense style - perfect for teaching large groups of dancers of all ages. Anne is so wonderful that we invited her back for both Family & Friends Weeks to lead her wild and crazy, and totally intergenerational, folk dancing evenings.

In between RE Week and the Family & Friends weeks was the Tea Dance at GAYLA – a dance you have to see to love and believe. Everyone on campus is always invited – the Crew and the Choral Festival singers – and everyone dressed just the way they wanted. The outrageous attire, everyone dancing and the joy of it all are beyond my ability to describe.

This summer dancing seemed to be the heart and soul of UU Fellowship & Fun. Sandra and Randy Locke make it happen. Every morning Sandra and Randy teach folk, international and line dances during the UUF&F children’s program (all ages including toddlers). At night they teach the adults. The upshot is that everyone knows the same dances. This dancing knowledge ties the generations together at UUF&F. Every night from 9:00 to 11:00 adults, young adults, and teenagers crowd themselves into Gardiner living room - dancing and dancing and dancing. What a mix of happy dancers of all ages! The last night at UUF&F this summer was the wildest, most joyous, dance party I have ever witnessed at Ferry Beach. For me that night epitomized what intergenerational fun can be.

Dancing at Ferry Beach for the rest of the summer was a bit more mellow after that last night at UUF&F. Cathy Jay led the women of In the Company of Women in the beautiful and meditative dances of Sacred Circle Dance. At Body, Mind & Spirit Mara Morris continued the long tradition of Paneurhythmy on the beach at sunrise. Mara also taught folk dancing and was joined once again by Sarah Skinner whose Belly Dance performances were beautiful and most playful. Sarah taught Belly Dance to all comers - young and old, beginners and more experienced.

Of course not everyone dances at Ferry Beach. As I said, it is only one of the many threads that tie us together as a community. This past summer the dance “thread” seemed particularly strong. A lesson for me is that we don’t always need words to find ourselves in community. We can dance and that experience unites us in a powerful way.

Four New Conferences for 2010

The Ferry Beach Group: A Ministerial Study Retreat (July 24 - July 31)

This conference for UU Ministers will be modeled after such well known study groups for UU Ministers as the Greenfield Group and the Cedar Hill Group. Limited to 18 participants, this will be a week of study, contemplation, and collegial conversation. Like the Greenfield Group and the Cedar Hill Group, the Ferry Beach Group will be a continuing source of collegiality, sermon ideas, and spiritual renewal.

Exploring the Maine Coast: A Family Nature Camp (July 24 - July 31)

"Nature Drew" Dumsch, Executive Director of the Ferry Beach Ecology School, will lead this revival of the popular conference founded by Bob Knights and later led by Nancy Knights and Nelson Jaquay more than a decade ago. Bring your children and expand your family's understanding and enjoyment of Maine's environmental phenomena as you explore the Maine coast with "Nature Drew."

Grand Buddies Camp (August 14 - August 20)

This camp is for elders - grandparent types - who have experienced a Sage-ing® conference at Ferry Beach (or other venues) and their grandchildren - aged 4-12 years - who are related biologically, culturally or congregationally. Morning programs are separate: elders focusing on legacies, mentoring, memoir writing and storytelling; children focusing on family identity, heritage, adventure and storytelling. After lunch and quiet time, Afternoon programs are intergenerational with Buddy Choice Times offering arts and crafts, nature exploration, beach play, and more. Evening programs highlight grand-buddy stories around the campfire, skits and music, and cooperative games. Coordinators: Rev. Pat Hoerdoerfer and Paulette Geller

Celebrating Our Living Tradition: UU History Course and Conference (August 21 - August 27)

If you are a UU ministerial student or a UU who would like to know more about UU history, this is the week for you. Each morning Rev. Mark Harris, UU History Instructor at Andover Newton Theological School, will lead students and conferees through the UU historical journey. Ministerial students taking the course for credit will attend afternoon classes too. Those afternoon classes are optional for conferees who may choose to go to the beach, curl up with a book, or find a rocking chair on the Quillen porch. This is an introductory course and no knowledge of UU History is required of participants.
